Brand Guidelines v2 — Refined Identity

Version 2.0 · 2026

Three variations, one family

Every variation shares the same R skeleton — stem, bowl, stroke weight, corner radii — and differs only in how the property meaning is carried. Full scoring in BRAND_ASSET_REPORT.md.

A — Minimal Premium
House-shaped counter

B — Architectural Modern
+ peeking second rooftop

C — Technology + Property
Location-pin counter

Selected: Variation A. The only one of the three with zero fine detail below the letterform's own stroke weight — nothing in it can degrade before the R itself would, which is what makes it hold up from a 16px favicon to a storefront sign.

The mark

R first, house second. The property meaning isn't drawn onto the letterform — it's the negative-space counter inside the bowl, a simple house silhouette discovered on a second look.

Verified at: 16px, 24px, 32px, 48px, 64px, 128px, 512px, 1024px. The single solid counter-hole is the reason it survives the smallest sizes — there's no thin stroke or multi-element detail to break up under scaling.

Variations

Signature gradient: 3-stop, #2563EB → #6D5BEF → #7C3AED, 135–170° — the midpoint stop avoids the muddy banding a 2-stop blue → purple gradient gets at its midpoint.

System

Logo: Poppins SemiBold/Bold. Headings: Space Grotesk. Body: Inter.

Rendering note: this PDF and its mockups were produced in an environment with only Poppins installed (no internet access to fetch Space Grotesk/Inter) — headings here use Poppins Bold and body text uses Liberation Sans as neutral stand-ins. Install the actual Space Grotesk/Inter webfonts in the product build; nothing about the layouts changes.
